

Health Bridges International, Inc. works with a broad range of partners. We are continuously seeking new relationships and collaborations to help facilitate our mission of connecting resources with needs. We work with government, non-governmental, faith-based and private sector organizations and agencies in a number of innovative ways. Some of our partners are listed below:

Sirviendo Logrando Paz

A Peruvian registered Non-Governmental Organization based out of the Mission of Alto Cayma; we have partnered with Sirviendo Logrando Paz on a variety of projects in and around the Arequipa area including direct care delivery, planning and implementing a model medical outreach van, training health professionals and organizing international volunteers.

The Anglican Church of Perú

The Episcopal Church in Peru and a long-term partner on projects as diverse as medical and dental outreach and special sponsorship programs for medically fragile children. HBI has worked with the Anglican Church of Peru in partnerships ranging from short-term medical projects, strategic planning and systems development. Learn more about the Anglican Church of Peru at: http://peru.anglican.org

Hope and Health Perú

One of the world's largest short-term medical mission organization and an important partner on the development of training symposiums and conferences. Formerly known as Medical Ministry International (MMI), HBI has partnered with Hope and Health on health services delivery outreach projects, care coordination efforts for underserved communities and focus services for special needs cases. Learn more about Hope and Health Peru at: http://medicalmissionsperu.org

The Mission of Alto Cayma

The Mission of Alto Cayma and Father Alex Busuttill have been a partner with HBI for over two decades. The foundational element of many of the programs and projects based out of Arequipa. Our work with Father Alex includes helping to organize international volunteers, partnering on strategic planning, administering a community health work program and work side-by-side with the Mission of Alto Cayma on community development. Learn more about the Mission of Alto Cayma at: http://www.serveperu.org/index.html

Union Biblica del Perú

Union Biblica is a 20+-year partner organization that makes up a bulk of our work in Lima and in the northern province of Ancash. We work with Union Biblica to deliver outreach and projects to some of the most underserved children in Peru. In addition, HBI has worked with Union Biblica to develop and pilot test a health monitoring system for capturing the complex holistic needs of children living in institutional care settings like orphanages, group homes or reform schools. Learn more about Union Biblica del Peru at: http://www.ubperu.org

Nana

A not-for-profit organization that helps to market textiles and handicrafts made by a collective of women living in the communities of Alto Cayma. The project, collaboration between a U.S. business consultant and textiles marketer and the Mission of Alto Cayma. HBI has worked with Nana to expand the impact and influence of a small business model based on a collective of textile artisans in the area of Alto Cayma.

Serving Alto Cayma

A small not-for-profit organization based out of Alto Cayma that was the brainchild of Jim and Gloria Hintz. The Serving Alto Cayma organization has developed and implemented an amazing array of projects around micro-economic enterprises and community services and supports in Arequipa. Learn more about Serving Alto Cayma at: http://www.serving-alto-cayma.info

Mercy and Care International – Lubumbashi, Democratic Republic of Congo

Operating out of the Lubumbashi Medical Clinic, Mercy and Care International (MCI) is the “brainchild” of U.S. trained physician Dr. Ysu Umbalo. The clinic works to bring services and care to some of the poorest citizens of this devastated Western African country. HBI helps to secure equipment and supplies for the clinic and provides technical consulting for the operations of the NGO.

Christopher Bibby

Christopher Bibby was born in Cheshire on the banks of the Mersey not far from Liverpool, England. He attended the London Road College of Art and Design. At the age of 20 he moved to Scotland and settled in Glasgow, where he painted and drew every day on the streets and in the alleyways. He then moved to Portland, Oregon, during the winter of 2001 and immediately fell in love with the city and its people. Christopher uses brilliant color and dynamic contrast to make scenes from everyday life take on an almost heavenly importance and attention. He illustrates the importance of appreciating every detail life has to offer. Check out Christopher's work at: http://www.iambibby.com

FIRE Communications S.A.C.

Hugo Corzo Isenrich is the principle owner of Fire Communications, a Peru based brand strategy and design studio. Hugo has partnered with HBI for a number of years on a wide range of projects - from designing marketing materials to successfully launching a countrywide campaign to encourage Peruvians to "be the bridge." HBI is proud of our ongoing collaboration with Hugo and Fire Communications. Check out Hugo's work at: http://www.fire.pe